

Introducing Skylert!

Soon Northwestern School Corporation will be implementing Skylert, a new notification system for parents and students in the event of weather delays or cancellations. Beginning Monday, February 2, 2009, the new notification system, Skylert, will be in place. In the event of a delay or cancellation, Skylert will begin notifying you after 6:00 AM with a message regarding the change in the school day. Skylert will also enable you to receive text and/or email notification as well. We will continue to contact radio and television stations for on air broadcast of the announcements. In addition to emergency closing information, Skylert is also able to send general information messages as well. Contact information, including phone numbers and email addresses, submitted during registration and located within our student information system will be used to contact you.

Skyward Family Access Users

If you are a current Skyward Family Access user, you have the ability to customize contact information and enter additional contact information for Skylert to use to contact you. Once you enter Family Access, you will see the Skylert link on the left of the screen. Once you click onto Skylert, you can customize the phone numbers, email addresses, and text message numbers that you would like to be contacted.

Skylert Test!

Northwestern School Corporation will run a Skylert test on Friday, January, January 30th, in the afternoon. If you believe that you have received this call by mistake or would like to leave a message please contact the number stated in the test message.

Northwestern School Corporation hopes this will provide the most expedient distribution of information to our families.
